

Banned Scripts

May 2009

Unfortunately, many good things are used for less than respectable activities. Commonly used scripts are frequently exploited to allow unauthorized access to the systems they are running on. Others cause overly-extensive server resources to be used which slows down system resources for everyone.

In order to keep our server safe, we may need to take actions that occasionally inconvenience our good customers. Any time we find scripts or other commonly used tools that can become easily compromised or impact other users by using too many server resources, we may need to disable them. Whenever possible, we will notify you in advance. We will attempt to keep this page updated for your reference, although this may not always be possible as new "offensive" scripts or programs are constantly becoming available.

Our chart includes the script or program name, the version(s) that is banned and when possible, an alternative is provided. This list does change occasionally, so it's a good idea to check back once in awhile to ensure that you are not in violation.

Currently Banned Scripts

Script or Program	Version or Type	Alternatives
Matt Wright's Formmail	1.91 and previous	nms-cgi formmail
YABB (Yet Another bulletin Board)	All text versions	YaBBSE
UBB (Ultimate Bulletin Board)	All versions	vBulletin
IRC bots and clients	All versions	None
Proxy Servers (stone, etc.)	All Versions	None
"Jack's" formmail.php	All versions	nms-cgi formmail
Hivemail	All versions	None
phpformmail classic	v1.03.0 and previous	nms-cgi formmail
phpbb	All previous to 2.x	phpbb 2.x

Thank you for your cooperation!